

Earthquake 101...

The San Fernando Valley Preparedness Initiative – A Duty to get 'Prepared'. June-2011

Earthquake Country – Los Angeles

TRAINED.
EMPOWERED.
PREPARED.

For centuries, seismic activity has shaped the precious topography we have grown to love in Southern California; bringing majestic mountains and valleys to our breathtaking shorelines. Our dense population lives in the shadows of the restless San Andreas. The San Andreas Fault, which knifes through much of California, is poised to strike.

Earthquake 101 will provide a deeper understanding of:

- how seismic activity has shaped Southern California.
- the basics of what happens, geographically, during an earthquake.
- critical infrastructures that will be affected when the next one strikes.

The key to Survive Thriving when disaster strikes is to understand what has happened, what is going to happen, and what you can do to help yourself and others. In order to Thrive when the next earthquake strikes, you must arm yourself with knowledge so that you know what to expect, and what immediate actions to take.

This program, Earthquake 101, provides participants with a dynamic view of graphic presentations that will peak your interest and enable you to better understand the threat of earthquakes in Southern California. Participants will be armed with the knowledge to speak to others about the importance of being prepared, and how.

Register today to join other community members in our preparedness efforts.
